

These Epic Adventures Are the Ultimate Father's Day Gifts

Skip the tie and cufflinks. These are the epic gifts Dad really wants.

Excerpted from an article by Becca Hensley

How many striped ties or bottles of cologne can one man own? This year, we're skipping the same old uninspired Father's Day gifts in favor of an epic adventure that Dad will never forget.

Search for Tigers in the Jungles of India

Take to the dusty roads of India's Ranthambore National Park under the tutelage of Micato Safaris to search for one of the most elusive creatures on earth: the Royal Bengal tiger. Once the royal hunting ground for the Maharaja of Jaipur, this reserve in Rajasthan is home to some 50 free-roaming, protected tigers, as well as scores of leopards, sloths, monkeys, snakes, and birds. This rollicking adventure (from $13,000 per person) can be organized as a bespoke supplement to a business trip, or as part of an opulent multi-day tour of India at large.
